Activity Overview

- Breaking News AI provides an overview of AI concepts and applications and offers video training on specific AI topics
- Participants form teams to produce a "breaking news" broadcast, with each member specializing in areas such as script writing, research, image/video generation, voice synthesis, editing, and producing
- Each team receives access to necessary resources and AI tools + template news format
- After completion, teams present their broadcasts to the group and can discuss the AI tools used and any challenges faced
